Petition calls for shake-up in healthcare

A RESIDENT has started a petition calling for a shake-up in GP provision in Haverhill.

Simon Edwards said problems getting a GP appointment had been on-going since the town's walk-in centre closed in 2012.

And he said the pressure would only get worse when the 2,500-home Great Wilsey Park development and the 1,150-home North West Haverhill Development are built.

Mr Edwards launched his petition on Tuesday and has already gathered nearly 700 names.

He said: "I thought that if I could get a collective voice of Haverhill together via a petition, then hopefully I can get a meeting with some of the managers of local health centres.

"Soon people aren't going to be able to get an appointment and they'll think: 'I'm going to put it off'. And that's when something serious happens."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The petition has already been signed by 689 people, and Mr Edwards is aiming for 1,000 signatures.

A spokesperson for the Haverhill Family Practice said: "Patients will be aware, through the national press, of the difficulties GPs are facing due to a nationwide shortage. Our doctors have a higher than average patient to doctor ratio and this causes increased pressure and workload. We are hoping to make changes in the near future to improve access.

"We would like to stress to our patients to look at alternative advice streams such as using local pharmacies for minor illnesses and ailments as this can clog up the scarce appointments that we have and stop more serious cases being seen in a more timely manner."

Andy Eley, of the West Suffolk

Clinical Commissioning Group, said: "Haverhill is not alone. Nationally and locally there are more demands on all public and voluntary services.

"A specific challenge for the NHS and social care is that people more commonly than ever before have several long-term conditions which makes care more complex. That is why we are working on plans for joining up services to maximise support for people and encouraging people to take up healthier lifestyles.

"We don't have all the solutions, so we would welcome a chance to speak to those who set up the petition."

CRIME

"VERY UPSET": Ercan and Hatica Bober returned home to find burglars in their house

Picture: Keith Heppell

Burglary leaves family in shock

A FATHER has spoken of his shock after arriving home to find burglars looting his house.

Ercan Bober, who runs Magic Touch dry cleaners in Haverhill High Street, was driving home with his wife, Hatica, on the afternoon of Saturday, April 2, when he encountered the criminals.

He arrived in Mustards Gapp, a quiet residential road, just after 3pm to see a dark grey Mercedes with three people in it turning round.

Mr Bober, 39, said: "I was thinking: 'They want to drop something off'."

But then two men came out of his house carrying his safe.

"I came out of the car and I shouted: 'Hey, that's mine!' I tried to stop them," he said.

Mr Bober stood in the road to try to stop the Mercedes but he had to jump out of the way to avoid being hit and it drove off.

"We were just shocked," he said.

Mr Bober called the police, who arrived five minutes later, but by then the thieves had disappeared. There was jewellery and cash in the safe.

"I feel very upset because I saw them in front of my house," said Mr Bober. "I'm not comfortable in the house. You know someone's been walking in your house, walking in your bedroom. We don't want to go out of the house because we think they may be coming back."

He said that one of the most upsetting things was that he had seen the driver of the Mercedes "face to face" before the car sped off. Mr and Mrs Bober and their 16-year-old son Akrem have lived in Haverhill for six-and-a-half years and moved into the house in Mustards Gapp three-and-a-half years ago.

Mr Bober sponsors Haverhill Rugby Club and Haverhill Borough Football Club.

He said about his street: "No-one's got cameras because we think it's a very nice area. Sometimes I've left my car door open by mistake. We didn't expect this to happen at three o'clock in the afternoon. I don't know how it happened."

He said that his family now planned to set up more security measures at their home to keep them and their property safe.

He said: "We can't sleep because it's so difficult. It's a horrible feeling."

Police have issued an appeal for anyone who saw anything suspicious in the Mustards Gapp area, or witnessed the Mercedes leaving the town, to come forward.

"Just try and help us if you have seen someone, or if you have got the registration number," said Mr Bober.

You can contact Haverhill police by calling 101 and quoting crime reference number 25792/16.

Alternatively, contact Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

PLANNING

Corn Exchange 'should be a multi-arts venue'

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

MUSICIANS are calling for Haverhill's crumbling Corn Exchange to be converted into a multi-arts venue where up-and-coming bands can play.

Cambridge 105 DJ Dave Hammond says he has the backing of several local bands for his vision that the derelict building could provide a venue unlike any other in Haverhill.

The historic structure is currently up for sale and the town council has just a fortnight to decide whether they want to make a bid for it.

Mr Hammond, who lives in Shetland Road, said: "I would describe it as a multi-arts venue... that would cover lots of different arts, not just music, and would also offer services to young people, arts and crafts workshops. It's something that the town doesn't have."

"With the town expanding as quickly as it has done over the last ten or 20 years, it's something that the council have really got to look at. At the moment so many people have got to go out of town to try and see a band."

He said he saw the proposed new venue as a complimentary "satellite venue" to the Haverhill Arts Centre, rather than a competitor.

He added that it could also contain "pop-up shops" selling books, records and crafts.

Mr Hammond said he and a group of musicians would be going to the town council's meeting about the Corn Exchange on Monday to put forward their ideas.

Matt Plumb, one of the musicians hoping to attend, said a space like this would be useful for bands to rehearse in.

He added: "At the moment if you wanted to practise in Haverhill and use a dedicated space, it's just not possible."

Mr Plumb set up his own music night at the Bull to try and combat the lack of opportunities for young musicians in Haverhill.

Musician Dave Brittain added: "It would be nice to make it more like a community space rather than just another block of flats, make it a bit more personal."

"It seems to have got tougher – it must be soul destroying, especially for younger bands. It would be nice to have a place for musicians to go."

He said he knew hundreds of bands from Haverhill and the wider area who would be keen to play at a venue like this.

Mr Hammond said even if the council chose not to bid, or their bid was not successful, he and the other musicians would consider approaching the new owners of the building to discuss the possibility of an arts venue.

The Monday meeting is at 7pm at the Haverhill Arts Centre. Members of the public are welcome to attend.

POLICE

Your chance to meet and question Haverhill's new police inspector

HAVERHILL'S new police inspector will be introducing himself and explaining changes to policing at a meeting this week.

Head to Samuel Ward Academy at 7pm on Wednesday, April 20, to hear a presentation from Inspector Danny Cooper, pictured..

Insp Cooper said: "It's for me to outline the changes under the policing review, to meet people and to raise any issues they may have."

There will be an opportunity for people to ask questions at the end of the event.

As part of the local policing review rolled out at the start of April, Suffolk neighbourhood policing has been divided into nine "localities". Insp Cooper is the former Sudbury inspector, and he has taken on the new inspector role for Haverhill and Sudbury as of the start of this month. He replaces former Haverhill inspector Peter Ferrie.

Other changes brought in as part of the review include the front desk of Haverhill Police station being closed to the public, the end of police lost property services and changes to the role of Safer Neighbourhood team officers.

COMMUNITY

Bag a grant for a green project

HAVERHILL residents are being urged to apply for a grant for a local environmental project.

The Tesco "Bags of Help" scheme gives out funding raised through the new compulsory 5p plastic bag charge to environmental schemes.

There are three grants available in the Haverhill region: one of £8,000, one of £10,000 and one of £12,000. The money will only be spent if there are successful applications.

Projects funded by these grants must improve a publicly accessible open space in some way.

Beyond that factors such as biodiversity, promoting physical activity and improving wellbeing will be considered.

Castle Manor Academy already won funding in the last round of grants, but Groundwork, who run the scheme, are keen to encourage more applications from the area.

A display about the grants is set to be created at the Haverhill Tesco Superstore in Cangle Road by community champion Claire Bowden before this round of funding opens on April 18.

To apply, go to www.groundwork.org.uk/Sites/tescocommunityscheme.

FESTIVAL OF RUNNING

Hundreds turn out for first running festival

HUNDREDS of energetic runners took to the streets to take part in the first Haverhill Festival of Running on Sunday.

The sun came out for a mix of races, which included the town's first marathon, as well as a half marathon, a 10-kilometre run and a fun run.

Organiser Jack Tappin, of Haversports, said the event had attracted 395 people, including almost 50 running the new marathon.

It was the first time the marathon had been put on at the festival and Mr Tappin said as news of it grows, he hopes even more people will take part next year.

He said the new Festival of Running format, where all the runs take place on the same day, was a way of making sure the event was more sustainable in the future.

He said: "It was really successful. It was good to see such enthusiasm for running in Haverhill and the region. It's great to see Haverhill as a viable location for running and it was an opportunity for showcasing the town." Competitor Ben Cuthbert was the quickest man around the 26-mile course, finishing the race in three hours, 13 minutes and 56 seconds. Haverhill runner Trudi Morrish was the fastest woman, smashing the marathon in three hours, 56 minutes and 53 seconds.

In the half-marathon, Wayne De'ath won gold with a time of one hour, 25 minutes and five seconds, while Ursula Ransom secured first place for the women's category, crossing the finish line in one hour, 34 minutes and 54 seconds.

In the 10k run, the fastest runner was Tom Eames who completed the route in 35 minutes and 57 seconds. The quickest woman was Fiona Halls, with a time of 42 minutes and 16 seconds.

The event raised money for St Nicholas Hospice Care, the charity which runs the Burton Centre in Haverhill's Camps Road, and provides support for people living with life-threatening illnesses.

FESTIVAL OF RUNNING

CHALLENGE: Runners in Haverhill's first marathon

While money from individual runners' fundraising has not yet been added up, Mr Tappin said that the event had raised at least £1,500.

He said he had been worried there would be poor attendance due to a degree of frost on Saturday night but more than 100 people signed up the day before the race and on race day alone.

He added: "It was nice having lots of different groups of people around. There was quite a large group of people watching. There were even people just going out for a bike ride to see how the course was going."

Mr Tappin thanked volunteers and congratulated Haverhill Running Club and Saffron Striders – which both won a good deal of medals between them. He also thanked Abbeycroft Leisure, which runs the Haverhill Leisure Centre, for the use of their facilities.

The half marathon was sponsored by JMP Furniture Solutions and the 10k was sponsored by Kevin Henry.

Festival organisers Haversports has been running athletic events in Haverhill for two years.

It will be organising a fun run at this year's Haverhill Summer Bash on Sunday, July 17, and the Haverhill Triathlon Festival on October 2. For the first time, Haversports also is running its very first triathlons in Bury St Edmunds and Mildenhall on Sunday, June 19 and Sunday, August 28.

Mr Tappin urged any local businesses interested in sponsoring an athletics event to contact him at haverhalf@gmail.com

How about a museum?

REGARDING last week's story about the Corn Exchange: Yes, it should be purchased for the local community. It could have a museum/art gallery; the museum could have a permanent display of the long and varied history of the town and surrounding area – that's where the local history group would come into it.

The building is a beautiful edifice and should be kept as part of our history and not demolished in the interests of modernisation or another absentee landlord.

A team of volunteers could run it and I for one would be glad to volunteer to help run it.

Bill Hubbuck

Address supplied

It should be a health centre

WHAT should the Corn Exchange become?

An arts venue? A register office? We need these like a hole in the head.

There are only two things that this town is in desperate need of, and that is a health centre and a decent road in and out of it.

It should become a health centre, even if a small charge is made per visit.

This town is in serious need of some decent facilities.

Haverhill is the largest town in the country without these.

Help us fund heart research

HEART disease is heartless. I know first-hand the devastating impact it can have on families across the UK because heart disease took my father from me when he was just 50. Every year, more than 14,800 lives are lost to heart and circulatory disease in the East of England.

The need to find new ways to fight it is urgent. By taking part in the British Heart Foundation's new MyMarathon challenge you can help accelerate this fight by funding vital research.

I'm calling on everyone in the region to take part and challenge themselves to run the 26.2 miles this May. You can run it at your own pace in your own time, whether that's over four hours, four days or four weeks so now everyone can go the distance.

Sign up today at www.bhf.org.uk/mymarathon and help us save more lives.

value of benefits and is set to affect a large number of claimants.

As a charity supporting people in financial hardship, we know that other significant benefit changes taking place this month and beyond are also likely to cause concern.

This includes a change in the tax credit 'income rise disregard' – the amount a claimant's income can increase in-year without seeing a reduction in tax credit entitlement. April also brings changes to support for housing costs, a reduction in Universal Credit Work Allowances and the introduction of a new single tier state pension.

Haverhill & District Local History Group:

Secretary Barry Young spoke about 'The Unwin Family of Haverhill' at the history group's March meeting. Barry's research had begun a few years before with the large Unwin memorial in the town cemetery. Frederick Daniel Unwin 1862-1941, was known as the father of Haverhill.

He was manager of Gurteens mat factory and a councillor and was active in the West End Church and Haverhill Rovers Football Club. Three of his sons served in the First World War and two were awarded the Military Cross.

After the war, one gained a doctorate in anthropology and wrote several books. Another son was the manager of the Belfast branch of the General Electric Corporation and the third returned to military service as a Canadian intelligence officer in the Second World War. Barry gave a fascinating insight into a family who served town and country. The subject of the group's next meeting is 'History of Brick Making'. Visitors are welcome, admission £2 members free. It's on Wednesday, April 27, at Haverhill Arts Centre Studio at 7.30pm.

Youth and world village markets are a success

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

HAVERHILL town centre took on a festival atmosphere on Saturday as shoppers flocked to three different markets.

As well as the town's usual Friday and Saturday markets, a World Village Market and the town's first youth bring-and-buy sale were held.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council's market development officer, Sharon Fairweather, said: "It was a really lovely atmosphere – there was music as well. It was just a nice buzz about the town centre."

The youth bring-and-buy sale, which took place on Saturday only, was an event at which young people aged 12 to 18 brought along their used items to sell on.

Ms Fairweather said: "The stalls looked really good. They put a lot of time into displaying clothes on rails and things in baskets."

The event, set up after Haverhill's youth market for 16 to 24-year-olds proved a success, was intended to introduce young people to market trading.

Ms Fairweather said she had been asked if the event would be happening again, and said this was planned for the future.

On top of this, a World Village Market was held on Friday and Saturday in Queen Street with arts and crafts and food including Chinese street food, paella and churros from Spain, cheese, jams and preserves all being sold.

Ms Fairweather said: "There were a lot of different parts of the world represented."

The 15 stalls were a mix of local traders and stallholders from across the country, and live music was played by a steel drummer and singer-songwriter Pembroke Tenneson.

Ms Fairweather said that the council was also hoping to repeat the World Village Market, as it had proved a success. She said this could happen in the summer or around Christmas.

Police appeal after cars are damaged in arson attack

POLICE have released pictures of cars damaged in an arson attack last week in a bid for new information.

The incident took place at around 4am on Wednesday, April 6, in Haverhill's Chauntry Road.

It is believed that a

Citroen C3 was deliberately set on fire and the blaze then spread to a Jeep Cherokee and a Citroen Berlingo.

If you have any information, call Haverhill police on 101 quoting reference 26433/16.

Driver seeing red is helped by stranger

A LONG wait at some traffic lights in the rain doesn't sound like the sort of morning to put a smile on your face. But commuter Stephen Lord had his day turned around when a mystery woman stepped in to help.

Mr Lord was driving to his job as an office manager in Bury St Edmunds at around 7am on Tuesday when he got stuck at some temporary traffic lights on the corner of Camps Road, Burton End, Crowlands Road and Clements Lane in Haverhill.

He said he had been waiting there for around 10 minutes when a woman he thought was over 60 years old, knocked on the window of his car.

He said: "She said the lights were stuck on red and the police have been called."

Suffolk police confirmed they had had a call at 6.35am – half an hour before the woman helped Mr Lord – saying that the lights were broken.

Mr Lord said: "I don't know

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

how long she was out there. It's the fact that she waited there while it was piddling down with rain. I thought she was amazing. I don't know who she was or where she lived."

Mr Lord said he believed the woman had helped a number of other vehicles, as there was not a big queue when he arrived.

He said: "I want to say thank you from all the motorists that she helped [on Tuesday] morning."

"I don't think it was just myself and the car in front."

The roadworks were for investigations into the water mains by Anglian Water, and the lights came down yesterday.

Were you the mystery good Samaritan helping drivers on Tuesday morning? Do you know who the woman was? Get in touch by emailing hannah.mirsky@cambridge-news.co.uk

ELECTION

Five put names forward to be new county police commissioner

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

CANDIDATES for the Suffolk Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) election have been announced.

Tory incumbent Tim Passmore, Labour's Cath Pickles, Lib Dem Helen Korfanty, UKIP's Simon Tobin and Green Terence Carter are all up for election on May 5.

Current PCC Tim Passmore says that his last three-and-a-half years have been "a very good launch pad".

Future priorities for him include tackling domestic violence and securing Suffolk's coastal borders. He also places a high emphasis on victim commissioning, which means working with charities to provide support for victims, and wants to reform prisons to train inmates so they have skills when released.

He said the decision to close Bury St Edmunds magistrates' court was "ridiculous" and is lobbying for a pop-up court in Haverhill.

Labour candidate Cath Pickles says she knows what victims of crime go through as her own daughter was the victim of a violent crime in 2007/8. She has been a district councillor and a council officer.

She said that her priorities as PCC would be tackling violent crime, domestic violence and sexual exploitation. She says if necessary she would reallocate money from rural crime to tackle these issues.

She also pointed out that gun licences cost Suffolk £100,000 a year, and said she would lobby government to make these cost-neutral.

Lib Dem Helen Korfanty has experience of the justice system through her job as a solicitor.

She said that the police force is paying for video links to court that should be funded by the Ministry of Justice, and would lobby government to change this to save money.

She also hopes to save funds by improving police efficiency, and to improve victims' access to follow-on services in areas such as domestic violence and mental health.

UKIP candidate Simon Tobin said his priorities would be focusing on inner town crime and consulting residents on their priorities.

He said he would place an emphasis on recruitment into the police force, particularly among ethnic minorities, to build on work already being done on social integration. He would also lobby government to reverse cuts to the force.

Green Terence Carter says that his focus would be on protecting vulnerable people. He has a unique perspective on this, having been homeless, a victim of domestic abuse, and being disabled.

He wants to work with charities to improve support for vulnerable people throughout the justice system, and to make sure officers are properly trained to help them.

He also wants to improve engagement, both by making use of new technologies and by increasing face-to-face contact between the public and police officers.

Building on a long tradition

FROM starting life providing second-hand furniture to becoming the biggest home department store in East Anglia, Glasswells has come a long way to now be firmly established as one of the region's best loved and most respected family run businesses.

Glasswells is steeped in family tradition with the ethos of the company – high quality products, lots of choice, hard work and always putting the customer first – as much at the heart of today's business as it was when it first opened in May 1946.

Jerry Glasswell opened his first shop in Brentgovel Street, Bury St Edmunds with his son, Leslie, followed by grandson Paul to continue the family-run traditions.

They first made their name at trade shows throughout West Suffolk and beyond, and from their success the family opened a second shop in St Andrews Street.

Expansions to the premises were followed by a number of town centre stores, before Glasswells opened destination home department stores in Newmarket Road, Bury St Edmunds in 1992 and Ranelagh Road, Ipswich in 2008.

Paul Glasswell said: "When we first started, we were the new kids on the block. This meant we had to work very hard to make our name. Through our furniture exhibitions and our shops, Glasswells soon became a name you could trust.

"We have always prided ourselves on this reputation, the fact we are family run and we are local."

Glasswells provides every aspect of home furnishing, with an experienced workforce that embraces the personal touch and customer care.

They pride themselves on offering a huge choice and being great value for money, with quality products that are built to last.

If you're looking to refurbish your house, Glasswells offers an interior design and personal shopper service, with the interior design team combining creativeness with commercial customers, supplying floor coverings and specialist furniture to businesses across the traditional and freshly served meals, using the best local produce.

Paul added: "We are delighted at Glasswells to celebrate our 70th anniversary. Glasswells' success is very much down to the support that we have received from the people of Suffolk and I am very pleased to have been able to supply furniture to our customers, their children and grandchildren over the years.

"I would like to thank all our staff and customers who contributed to making Glasswells the success it is today and we look forward to continuing to make history in the many years and decades ahead of us."

See glasswells.co.uk for more information.

HERITAGE: Glasswells prides itself on a long family tradition region. They have a purpose-built warehouse and distribution experience to offer a bespoke service to transform a home.

To help with moving, Glasswells operates a home removal and storage service to ensure your belongings are in safe hands with their team.

And they have moved to serving facility just off the A14 to provide storage for businesses looking to store goods or archived documents.

Glasswells also now has two Place to Eat restaurants in Bury St Edmunds and Ipswich with a range of

Everyone's welcome at Zafra

Quirky, uncommercial and committed to bringing joy to the local community – owner of Zafra Pasta Bar & Grill, Frank Tyler, is not your usual host.

The experienced chef has worked in Finchingfield near Braintree for 21 years, running Zafra for nearly 10, and has gained a reputation for offering a unique, relaxed, and extremely tasty dining experience.

Located on The Green, Zafra is a small business providing an intimate and welcoming atmosphere; perfect for diners who want to have an off-the-cuff lunch whilst on a country walk, a romantic evening out in their best outfits or a family get-together on the weekend.

"We're very informal here – we have people who come along in their jeans, and that's fine if they want to; equally we have people who've had a drive out in their Bentleys," said Mr Tyler.

"Everyone's welcome.

"I've been doing this a thousand years. I'm 55 this year and I've been doing it since I was 16 – 21 years in Finchingfield. I'm pretty loyal to this area now."

Located 9 miles out of town, Mr Tyler says Zafra revels in its countryside roots and is gearing up for the good weather season.

And the business has high hopes that people will enjoy drives out in the country, take a walk or a cycle, and make the most of the fresh seasonal ingredients Zafra has to offer.

"People can try some lovely seafood stews and some lovely fresh seabass," he said.

"We've got tiger prawns and crab ravioli.

"When the weather gets really warm and people are out and about more round the villages they can enjoy some of our ice cream with their lunch."

Regularly garnering 5-star reviews on TripAdvisor, the restaurant's meals include a variety of imaginative starters, staples such as pizza and pasta dishes, steaks, chicken, fish dishes and salads.

In the starter camp prices range from £3.25 for ciabatta to £7.95 for prawn fusion gnocchi; and mains range from £7.50 for a margherita pizza to £14.50 for grilled salmon to £19.50 for fillet steak.

■ Zafra is open from 11am to 2.30pm Tuesday to Friday and from 6.30pm to 10pm Tuesday to Saturday. For more information call 01371 810501 or visit <http://jonadkin.uk/zafra.html>.

Thieves target village church

RAYMOND BROWN
@RaymondBrownCN

THIEVES stripped a church roof of lead in West Wrattling. The Rev Canon John Fellows has described the theft as "dreadful" and will mean money will now have to be raised to repair the roof of St Andrew's Church.

Thieves scaled the 30ft roof between Friday and Saturday before dumping their ladders in the graveyard.

The Rev John Fellows said: "It's dreadful. They have stripped about two thirds of the lead from the church roof and it is now dripping water. We do have insurance but there is a cash limit on the pay out and we will have to raise money for repairs.

"They rolled up the lead and threw it down on the grass. It was very heavy so must have taken a few of them to carry it.

"It has not come at the best time as I am retiring on Sunday and I don't think we will be able to hold my last service in the church."

Mark Addley, who lives in the village, said residents had pulled together to help. He said: "There is a fantastic community spirit in West Wrattling. A team of people pulled together to temporarily protect the roof until contractors could get on site."

Police have appealed for information.

A spokeswoman said: "It is believed that unknown offenders entered the graveyard overnight between April 8-9 and used a set of extension ladders to climb on to the 30ft roof of the church."

Pair 'gutted' after signs for charity event stolen

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

BEREAVED charity campaigners have been left "gutted" after signs advertising their fundraising event were ripped out of the ground and stolen.

Kerry Farrant, of Mill Hill, Haverhill and Emma Williams of the town's Strawberry Fields are running a series of fundraising events under the banner "My Mum, My Dad" after they both lost a parent to cancer.

Their next event is a family fun day on May 8 at the New Croft in Chalkstone Way – but yesterday they discovered that their signs advertising the event had been ripped up and stolen.

Addenbrooke's healthcare assistant Kerry said: "I'm so gutted. It's just like: 'How dare they?'"

The two signs were a charitable donation from Gary Watson of Haverhill business We Do Signs and Labels, who printed and set them up next to each other up for free to promote the fundraising event.

They were positioned on a grass verge on Chalkstone Way just outside the New Croft.

Kerry said: "It's not that it's put a dampener on our day. It's just why? It's just pointless."

She said that she had posted about the theft on Facebook and had received overwhelming support from the local community, with the post being shared 50 times.

Kerry has also contacted the police about the theft.

The pair are still planning the family fun day, which will include dance performances, inflatables, a raffle, stalls, fairground games and more.

They have also launched a twitter campaign to get Take That star Gary Barlow to go along to the event.

The aim of the "My Mum, My Dad" series of events is to raise a total of £10,000 to divide between Addenbrooke's oncology ward and St Nicholas Hospice Care.

To find out more about the day, call the New Croft on 01440 702 137.

Darts league raises £600 for charity

A DARTS league has presented a cheque for nearly £600 to a local hospice charity.

The Haverhill Monday Charity Darts League raised the cash for St Nicholas Hospice Care by running a charity pot, donations, raffles and events at each of their darts venues throughout the winter.

Andrew Pordage set up the league in 2011 to support local good causes. He and his brothers funded a cup to present to the winning team each year – which this year was the Woolpack Pub.

Hospice community fundraiser George Chilvers visited the pub on Saturday, April 9, to be presented with a cheque for £581.91.

Mr Pordage said: "St Nicholas Hospice Care was an easy charity to support as when my mother Lynne Pordage died a number of years ago it provided fantastic support and she really looked forward to visiting. When she was coming to the end she chose to spend her last few days at the Hospice, in Bury St Edmunds."

Mr Chilvers added: "This donation – and the many others they have given the Hospice over the years – will make a big difference and help us to continue supporting people facing long-term and life-threatening illnesses and their families."

Egg, chips and death: the drama of Dad's war

When Jane Bower started reading her father's wartime diaries, she didn't expect that they – or, rather, he – would become the subject of her latest one-woman show. "It's a very painful and poignant part of his life," she tells Emma Higginbotham.

JANE Bower is a busy lady. A teacher who brings the arts to children around the UK and abroad, and a professional actress specialising in one-woman shows, she rarely has time for a sit-down.

But, following an operation, it was precisely being made to sit down that gave Jane the subject of her latest production.

Facing six weeks of enforced rest, she began to read her father's wartime diaries – and what she read astonished, delighted and moved her. That's why next week, the 60-year-old will take to the stage again – this time as a 19-year-old man. Her father, Len.

"I thought 'I'm holding history here; this has to be heard'," recalls Jane, the diaries in her lap. "And it really has been such a privilege that he allowed me to read them, never mind get up on stage and bring them to life."

Jane, who lives in Giron, has been performing one-woman shows for more than 30 years. "I'm fascinated by what one person can do with an empty stage. There's a space, there's a human being – where are they going to take us?"

And acting alone holds no fear for her: "To many it would be awful, but I am a teacher, so every day of my working life I perform to a captive audience!"

Her first one-woman show focused on the much-loved entertainer Joyce Grenfell. But, as Maureen Lipman was doing a Grenfell show at the same time, Jane had to write to ask permission to perform her own: "She responded very graciously, and said 'Yes, and if ever I'm indisposed when playing Joyce, I'll send for you!'"

Out of that play came a fascination with a distant cousin of Grenfell's, Ruth Draper, "who nobody's ever heard of, because she was never filmed, but she was known in her time as the greatest actress ever. Frankly she was 10 million times more gifted than Joyce Grenfell, which Joyce acknowledged. So that became my next show."

Meanwhile, Jane went to see Lipman on stage, "and it was brilliant. So I wrote to her and said: 'I don't know whether you remember me, but I wrote years ago and asked permission to do Joyce; it was lovely to see your show'. She wrote back and said 'Yes, I remember you. My next project is going to be the actress Ruth Draper'. So I wrote immediately and said 'If you want a show I have written one!'"

To her delight, Jane was summoned to Lipman's London home. "She said 'I need to see you perform, give me something', recalls Jane, mimicking Lipman's voice to perfection. "So I moved her furniture about and launched into my best Ruth Draper monologue, praying I'd remember it. And suddenly I was interrupted by a sound that I couldn't place, which sounded like a cat meowing, and I realised that it was Maureen convulsed with laughter. She was literally moving with mirth, wiping her eyes. And at the end she said 'You're bloody good!'"

The upshot was that Lipman suggested that they did a two-hander: she'd play Joyce and Jane would play Ruth. How did that feel? "Like a hammer blow to the brain," says Jane with a laugh. "I knew it would be a one-off – I had my eyes open and my feet firmly on the ground – but for a few magical months I was immersed in her world."

The play, penned by Jane and tweaked by Lipman, was performed at The Stables theatre in Milton

Keynes, a favourite of Grenfell's, in 2010, "and it got a standing ovation. I will never, ever forget it."

"That was such a high, I thought how I follow that? Who do I do next?" She toyed with a few possibilities, but none seemed quite right, "so I just waited for the inspiration to strike."

And it did – in a completely unexpected way. In November 2014, Jane was rushed to Addenbrooke's in severe pain; it transpired that she needed a gall bladder operation, which took place in March last year, "and I was told in no uncertain terms that I must not teach, so I was forced into sabbatical. I'd never had six weeks off! So I thought 'I need to do some reading'."

The Christmas before, Jane's father had given her his war diaries. "He said 'I'm blind now, I can't see them any more; do you want them?' And I said 'My goodness, yes!'"

Len Bower is 95, and still living in his native Leeds. "He's very lucid and witty, and a fascinating conversationalist," says Jane, her face lighting up. "A very intelligent man; deep and thoughtful with a wonderful sense of humour and wordsmithery."

"But of course I didn't know him when he was 19. So I sat and got to know my dad as a young man – and I suddenly realised that this was my next show; that the person I needed to be was not a famous 50-something woman, but a 19-year-old man, which was quite a 'eureka' moment."

"But then I had the awful task of ringing Dad and asking his permission," she adds. "I was dreading him saying 'Oh, I don't think so!' So I did ask him, and initially he just said 'Who would possibly be interested?', and I said 'Dad, this is gold! Do you trust me with the material?' And eventually he said 'Well, if anybody would be interested...'"

Len was training to be an illustrator when war broke out; he joined the RAF as ground crew and spent his war repairing aircraft, locally at Mildenhall as well as in Lincolnshire and Wales, "so this was a massive change for a 19-year-old who'd only known a loving home in the same place," says Jane.

Len kept a diary for every single day of the war, "and what interests me is the juxtaposition of things that are very mundane, and things that are hugely emotional, like friends being killed: 'Had egg and chips today, went to the NAAFI, Anning died, Greece at war with us, bed early'. And you think 'What was that?!' And you read again, and his friend Ken Anning is just one of many."

"I spoke to him about it – that's what's so wonderful, he's still there to ask – and he said 'You couldn't possibly be emotional. How could you be? Because if you behaved like a bereaved person you'd be crying on your bunk all night. You couldn't do that'."

"But what's interesting is when the war ends he notes that he has all kinds of nervous complaints. Men just fell to pieces when it was over."

"So many of his close friends died. You can't believe how many bereavements there were. And even though he was ground crew and never saw action, the things that he did see – the horrendous accidents with fire, and petrol, and planes – just one would give you a nervous breakdown now, but then it was every other day."

"But he said you tended to think of them as numbers: he'd say 'We lost four', meaning four planes, rather than 'We lost 20', which would mean the lads. Ground crew thought of planes, not people. That was part of your training."

Eventually Len was singled out to become an instructor, "and Dad said that was the beginning of the realisation of his true vocation – as an art teacher."

Daddy's Diaries is at St Mark's Church, Newnham, Cambridge, on Friday, April 15, at 7:30pm. Tickets are £10; call (01223) 353668 or email jwb9687@gmail.com. For more information about Jane, visit janebower.com.

performed for the first time last September, and the response, says Jane, was "humbling. And pretty overwhelming. People were in tears, and I got lots of emails afterwards from complete strangers."

Sadly, though, Len doesn't want to see the show, "and while it is upsetting to me on one level, I've got to put myself in his shoes: would I want to watch someone else doing a show about me aged 19? Would I not just squirm with horror?!"

"The other thing, of course, is it's a very painful and poignant part of his life. But he still says it was the best thing that ever happened to him because of what came out of it. It formed him as a human being. He made friendships that lasted forever, he met men from all walks of life who he'd never have met if he'd stayed in his cosy middle-class Leeds life, and it led to his career – an enormously successful career."

Does she feel differently about her father now? "I respect and admire him in a new way, knowing that he was covered in oil, mending aeroplanes, often at dead of night in the freezing cold, losing friends, seeing hideous accidents..." she tails off. "You can't help but just be hugely in awe of anyone who went through that."

"And he was one of thousands and thousands who gave up their youth. This is what these young men did for us – they gave up their youth entirely. We really don't know we're born."

But the show isn't, she says, all about the dark side: "It's a very humorous story and it's a very poignant story, so you've got that wonderful blend of laugh-out-loud moments coupled with the absolutely tragic fact that these men had to do this."

"And it's a love story: it's a story of someone falling in love, and it's a story of somebody working through war to find their own peace."

"It was all about how to fix a plane, but there were ways of doing that: Dad made it humorous, he made it interesting. He was a born teacher, and just loved what he was doing, and gave up illustrating when he came out of the war to become an art teacher. So it's watching a young man discover himself."

So... she's on stage as him? "This was the next thing: how does a 60-year-old woman become a 19-year-old man? How was I going to do that? Well a good actor can make the audience accept and believe anything at all."

"Like a good teacher who can draw the children into a good story, you can become the monsters, you can become anybody, and I thought there's no reason whatsoever why I cannot be a 19-year-old man. All I have to do is tell the audience that that's who I now am."

Plan for action in an emergency

HAVERHILL could be the first urban area in Suffolk to create a plan to deal with emergencies such as fire, flood or plane crashes.

The plan – known as a “community resilience plan” – would list places that could be used as rest centres if people had to be evacuated from their homes, and volunteers who could help with the process.

The Haverhill Arts Centre was visited on Tuesday by Sue Herne, of Suffolk's joint emergency planning unit, who talked through what the plan would involve.

Mayor of Haverhill, Betty McLatchy, said: “I think our geographical situation means that we really should get ahead with it.”

Ms Herne said that there were more than 20 such community resilience plans in place across Suffolk, and that she had seen some of them in action in coastal communities such as Southwold when there was a tidal surge. She said: “Community groups have been very successful not only during the incident itself but during the recovery afterwards. We've got local people helping local people.”

HANNAH MIRSKY

But not one of the plans – which supplement local authority plans for what to do in an emergency – has been created in an urban area, despite the dramatic effects a disaster could have on a town.

Ms Herne said: “If you took a 200-mile radius around a built-up core, that's an awful lot of people to be evacuated.”

She said that events that could lead to an emergency plan being put into action included a major fire, flood, traffic accident or power outage, as well as such disasters as a plane crash or an acid leak.

Although the community resilience plan relies on volunteers from the local community helping out in times of need, no member of the community would be put in danger and volunteer groups receive the same back-up as the borough council's team.

Ms Herne said that members of the community who had proved especially good at planning a community response included those who had worked in the emergency services, but anyone could take part.

Cllr McLatchy said: “Unfortunately, we are living in times when things could happen. We are under threat from various sources.”

To get involved, email town clerk Colin Poole at colin.poole@haverhill-tc.co.uk.

New charity campaign hits the road

A CHEEKY advertising campaign is letting West Suffolk residents know that size doesn't matter – when it comes to legacies in your will.

The St Nicholas Hospice Care campaign, featuring chief executive

Barbara Gale and facilities manager Ray Mott, will be appearing on the back of two buses in the region for the next 12 months.

Hospice legacy officer Nick Duncan said: “It might be a fun image and light-hearted promotion, but the message underneath is very serious: if the hospice does not receive gifts in wills then the one in five hospice patients that gifts in wills currently support might not be cared for in the future.”

■ Thursday, April 14 – Friday, April 22

■ In 1966 Neil Diamond's first hits smashed into the world's music charts. To celebrate the icon's 50-year recording career the UK's very own 'voice of Neil' Bob Drury ('The Neil Diamond Story') takes to the road with 'Viva Neil Diamond', a brand new one-man stage show simply bursting with Neil Diamond gems! Viva Neil Diamond celebrates 50 years of hits on Friday, April 15, performing such favourites as Sweet Caroline, Forever in Blue Jeans, Love on the Rocks, America, Hello Again, Play Me, Beautiful Noise, Song Sung Blue, I'm a Believer, Red Red Wine, and many more. Tap those feet for a 7.30pm start.

■ Join Haverhill Choral Society for a splendid evening of fun with Gilbert and Sullivan on Sunday, April 17. It's a Gas will be a light-hearted selection of choruses from the famous Victorian composers of comic operas. The programme includes pieces from several of the many well-known works including The Mikado, The Pirates of Penzance and features solo performances by members of the society with piano accompaniment by Vivien Brookes. The fun starts at 7.30pm.

■ Psychic medium Tony Stockwell makes a welcome return to Haverhill on Wednesday, April 20, at 7.30pm. The popular star of TV's Street Psychic, Psychic Private Eyes and Psychic Academy, Tony demonstrates his belief that those who have passed can communicate with their loved ones. All delivered with emotion, sensitivity and empathy, the arts centre hopes that nobody can fail to go away untouched by the experience.

■ On Friday, April 22, the arts centre has not one but two acclaimed guitarists from either side of the Atlantic, coming together for a night of innovative playing with many global influences. As both instrumentalists and singer-songwriters Vicki Genfan and Stuart Masters display their own virtuosity. They also showcase the length and breadth of the acoustic guitar with songs and tunes that cannot fail to captivate from 8pm.

■ On the cinema front the arts centre has two screenings of Hail, Caesar! (12A), the first on Monday, April 18 and then on Thursday, April 21, at 7.30pm. This latest outing from the Coen brothers stars George Clooney, Josh Brolin and Scarlett Johansson, in a comedy set amidst the glamorous Hollywood fakery of the 1950s. Baird Whitlock, star of an unfinished sword 'n' sandals epic, is kidnapped by a shadowy group calling themselves

The Future, and Eddie Mannix, the studio's 'fixer' is sent to retrieve him. It's been described as a 'glorious tribute to Hollywood's golden age' – must be worth a look then!

■ Forthcoming events include leading constitutional historian David Starkey talking about the 13th century agreement, Magna Carta, on Saturday, April 23, at 7.30pm, Monkey Nuts Comedy Club on Sunday, April 24, at 8pm and Wrong Stewart and The Farces on Friday, April 29.

Skyline is star for Japfest fans

PERFORMER: Nissan's Skyline

THE model made famous by the Playstation Generation has been named the Most Iconic Japanese Car Ever by followers of Japfest, the biggest celebration of Japanese cars and culture in Europe.

The organisers of the show, which will be held for the first time this year at Silverstone, Northants, on June 26, carried out a survey among its social media followers to see which performance car would be identified as the most iconic model in Japanese car culture.

The clear winner was the Nissan Skyline, a car that first came to prominence in the UK in 1997 as the star of the Gran Turismo console game.

Like the game, the Skyline was developed through multiple generations, each one faster and more advanced than its predecessor. A bumper turnout of Skylines is expected at this year's Japfest events.

Land Rover Classic launches 'Reborn'

LAND Rover Classic is underscoring its commitment to providing the very best cars, services, parts and experiences to passionate Land Rover customers with the launch of the 'Reborn' initiative for the iconic Series I at Techno-Classica in Essen, Germany.

Reborn offers 25 prospective customers the unique opportunity to purchase an original and highly collectable Land Rover Series I directly from Land Rover Classic.

Land Rover Classic's expert team has drawn on decades of experience to hand-pick 25 Series I chassis from Land Rover's global network. Each model will undergo a complete restoration according to the brand's original 1948 factory specification and using Land Rover Classic Parts to preserve authenticity. This includes the choice of five period finishes including Light Green, Bronze Green, RAF Blue, Dove Grey and Poppy Red.

Customers will be able to select their preferred base vehicle with the help and guidance of Land Rover Classic's experienced restoration team, and they will be able to follow the restoration of their cherished Series I from start to finish at Land Rover's new Classic workshop located within the original Defender production centre at Solihull.

DEFENDER: Fans and owners will be delighted with the 'Reborn' initiative

Tim Hannig, director, Jaguar Land Rover Classic, said: "The launch of the Reborn initiative represents a fantastic opportunity for customers to own a valuable and collectable automotive icon. Reborn showcases Land Rover Classic's expertise in restoring and maintaining our loyal customers' prized Land Rovers. It also demonstrates the business' commitment to supporting customers with original and meticulously sourced parts for Land Rover models that have been out for production for longer than 10 years."

ICON: The Volkswagen Golf GTI Clubsport Edition 40

VW celebrates Golf GTI with Edition 40

THE car that popularised the 'hot hatch' phenomenon is 40 years old and, to mark the occasion, Volkswagen has created the most potent iteration of the GTI to date.

Available to order now, the specially commissioned Golf GTI Clubsport Edition 40 celebrates four decades of a true automotive icon.

Powering this addition to the GTI range is a 2.0-litre turbocharged direct-injection engine that delivers 265PS – the most powerful Golf GTI yet. But that's not all. Accelerate hard in third gear or higher and, for up to 10 seconds, an additional 'overboost' function increases engine power to 290PS.

Top speed is limited to 155mph and the 0-62mph time for both three- and five-door versions – either manual or DSG – is a 6.3 seconds. CO2 emissions range between 158-162g/km, while combined fuel economy varies between 40.9mpg and 40.4mpg.

Preorder Tesla Model 3 today

ELECTRIC car maker Tesla has unveiled its newest model – its lowest-priced vehicle so far.

The Model 3 will cost 35,000 dollars (£24,423) and have a range of at least 215 miles (346km) per charge, the company's chief executive, Elon Musk, said.

Speaking at a launch event in California, he said some 115,000 people have so far pre-ordered the five-seater Model 3, which will go into production late next year.

The company hopes to eventually produce up to 500,000 vehicles a year, he added.

It is available for pre-order in a host of countries, including the UK and Ireland.

Unveiling the prototype, Mr Musk said: "We think you are going to be blown away. These are minimum numbers – we hope to exceed them."

"It has front and rear trunks. It has more cargo capacity than

AWESOME POWER: The Tesla Model 3 is available on pre-order any gasoline car of the same dimensions. Somebody asked me recently 'Can you fit a 7ft-long surfboard on the inside?' The answer is yes, you can."

On the price, he said: "Even if you buy it no options at all, this will still be an amazing car – you will not be able to buy a better car for 35,000 dollars, or even close, even with no options."

All Models 3s will come with autopilot hardware and safety features, as well as supercharging – fast charge – capabilities, Mr Musk said.

The semi-autonomous features include automatic lane changing and lane-keeping.

The firm intends to expand its worldwide charging network, doubling the number of supercharging units and increasing its destination chargers fourfold by the end of next year.

The car, which costs £1,000 to reserve in the UK, follows the higher-priced offerings, the Model S and Model X.

Call for an Ambiance

NEW AMBIANCE PRIME: Dacia has three new special editions with prices starting at £7,295

DACIA has introduced the new Ambiance Prime special edition across its Sandero, Duster and Logan MCV model ranges, starting from £7,295, offering cost-conscious drivers something extra in every sense.

Building on the popular Ambiance specification, the new special edition includes additional exterior equipment that when bought collectively adds up to £1,190 – all for a price premium of only £500 over the Ambiance trim and reinforcing Dacia's 'shockingly affordable' approach to motoring.

The arrival of the Ambiance Prime special edition comes at a time when more drivers than ever are opting for the no-nonsense brand, Dacia having recently celebrated its third consecutive year of growth in the UK and selling more than 3.5 million cars since relaunching across Europe.

Offering customers the opportunity to enjoy a car that looks more individual without the often associated additional costs, Ambiance Prime models are identified by their own unique 'Chestnut' metallic paint finish, the addition of alloy wheels and, on the Sandero and Logan MCV, front fog lights. The attractive extras complement the standard Ambiance features, which include Bluetooth connectivity, electric front windows, body-coloured bumpers, a Radio/CD player with USB and AUX connection, 60/40 split-folding rear seat and Emergency Brake Assist, ESC and ASR (traction control).

In Ambiance Prime trim the Sandero and Logan MCV – the UK's most affordable car and estate car respectively – benefit from 15-inch 'Aquila' alloy wheels, while the Duster features 16-inch 'Everest' items.

Ambiance Prime versions of the Sandero and Logan MCV are available with a choice of 1.2-litre 16V 75 and 0.9-litre TCe 90 petrol engines or the 1.5-litre dCi 90 diesel. The Duster comes with either the 1.6-litre 16V 115 petrol or 1.5-litre dCi 110 diesel engine in two- and four-wheel drive configurations.

FULL TIME PERMANENT SALESPERSON for Golding of Newmarket

At Golding we strive to give the best customer service on the high street. Is that you?

Ideally you will also have experience in the retail clothing sector and will enjoy giving the level of personal service our customers have come to expect. You will be working in our menswear department so a real interest in both conventional and fashion menswear brands would be an advantage.

In return we offer secure, permanent employment within a happy environment. If you would like to join our team please send your CV, together with covering letter stating why you wish to work for us to: David Hopper, Golding, 67 High Street, Newmarket, CB8 8NA. info@goldingofnewmarket.co.uk

School Nurse required from September 2016

We are seeking to appoint a caring, experienced and well qualified Nurse to join the School Surgery Team. This is a full-time post, 37.5 hours per week in term time only. We would be happy to consider a job share arrangement.

Further information and an application form are available from the School website (please click News then Vacancies). The closing date for applications is 21st April.

St Faith's is the largest Preparatory School in Cambridge and is located in nine acres of grounds less than one mile from the city centre. Facilities are extensive, class sizes are small and the staff team are very supportive. Most importantly, the school has a justifiable reputation for the excellent care and support it provides to its pupils and staff. St Faith's is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. An enhanced DBS check and references will be required. The school welcomes diversity.

Pre Prep Cover Teaching Assistant required from September 2016

We are seeking to appoint a Cover Teaching Assistant to work with children aged 4 to 7 as part of our Pre Prep Team. This is a new full-time post, 37½ hours per week in term time only. The role involves supporting teaching and learning and providing administrative support.

Play Supervisor required from September 2016

We are seeking to appoint a Play Supervisor to work with children aged 4 to 7 as part of our Pre Prep Team. This is a new part-time post, 15 hours per week in term time only, supervising children in free play and managing playtime resources.

Hulyer has edge to secure medal win

JOSHUA Hulyer needed count-back to win Haverhill's P Franklin Medal.

The juniors competition saw Hulyer card a round of nett 71, with Fiona Stokes doing likewise after receiving two courtesy shots.

However, it was Hulyer who triumphed on the tie-break, with Jason Carpenter third on 85.

The stableford competition was won by Harry Proctor, who scored 27 points.

Hulyer and Stokes were joined by James Iron to represent Haverhill in the Suffolk Junior Team Handicap Cup at home to Thorpness.

The trio secured victory by 12 points to book their place in the next round of the competition.

Mick Dalena beat Paul Bartlett and Kim Ward on countback to win the Haverhill men's medal.

The trio scored nett 71, but it was Division Two winner Dalena whose score on the back nine saw him triumph.

Second in his division was Stuart Haworth on 72 and Alan Bampton took third on countback with 74.

Barlett edged out Ward for Division One top honours, with Allen O'Donoghue third on 72.

Division Three was won by David Burns on 75, with Jason Whistler second on 78 and John Condon one further back in third.

The ladies' midweek medal saw Jenni Bradnam take victory by seven shots after a round of 71.

Linda Alexander was second on 78 and third place went to Chris Grainger on 79.

Bradnam triumphed in the Saturday medal as well, this time going round in 75.

Sheila Price was second on 84 and Anna Fairhead took third on countback after scoring 85.

Price and Fairhead lost their Daily Mail National Foursomes match away to the pair from Gog Magog.

The Haverhill duo were beaten 2&1, having been given 16 shots due to their opponents both having handicaps of eight.

Haverhill also played host to the Theatre Royal Golf Day, which featured club members and celebrities playing in mixed teams.

The winners were The Tractor Boys, consisting of Duncan MacDonald, Glyn Clouting, Sion Tudor Owen and Bob Moody with 124 points.

Dellar is hopeful of mid-table security

ADAM Dellar is excited to get a new season in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship under way as promoted Haverhill look to establish themselves in Division One.

Skipper Dellar takes over from Joe Woodley, who had a back operation in the winter and so may take some time to return to first team action.

A number of acquisitions have strengthened the squad, with Dellar hopeful that his team will be able to more than hold their own in the division.

Dave Humphrey, Andrew Argent, Chris Palmer and James Smith have joined the club, with overseas player Treyash Bali, a leg spinner, set to join from India at the end of June.

"Our main aim is to stay in the division, but I want us to compete," said Dellar.

"I believe we will do, and that we'll be able to compete with a lot of teams.

"We've got a good mix of spinners and seamers, and a lot of all-rounders in the team."

Haverhill open their campaign at home to Frinton-on-Sea II.

Haverhill Rovers well beaten by high-flying Mildenhall Town

HAVERHILL Rovers suffered a 4-1 defeat at in-form Mildenhall Town in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Rovers made a decent start to the game, and actually went in front after 25 minutes.

Luke Haines delivered a deep ball to Rory Jebb, whose shot caught out Mildenhall goalkeeper Josh Pope and crept into the net.

The lead did not last very long, however, as Mildenhall got back on level terms after half an hour, Chris Bacon scoring the first of his hat-trick despite the best efforts of Haines to clear the ball.

Football

The game then turned clearly in Mildenhall's favour two minutes into added time in the first half.

Rovers keeper Callum Robinson pulled off a fine save, but as Rovers struggled to clear their lines, Chris Claydon brought down Luke Parkinson in the area, and the Mildenhall player then converted the resulting spot kick.

The hosts then extended their lead 11 minutes into the second half when Kelvin Enaro's cross was met by an unmarked Bacon whose well-placed header gave Robinson no chance.

The game was effectively over as a contest 30 seconds later, as Enaro's positive running ended with him setting up Bacon for his third goal to make it 4-1.

In the First Division, Haverhill Borough lost 1-0 at home to Halstead at the New Croft on Friday night.

The visitors scored the winning goal in the 18th minute, with Borough unable to find a way back.
